This year at Smurtti Corporation's 2014 Winter Conference, we had to spice things up a bit. The conference's initial setting began with a continental breakfast, following with divisional updates and a special introduction for all our new team members. Later in that afternoon we gathered all the location managers together for a game of ServSafe Jeopardy! Following the games and a few overviews we had guest from US Foods presenting new items that'll be distributed in the upcoming year, pictured below. To conclude a long day combined with great food, good people, and a great environment we all participated in a bowling outing at a local bowling alley where all of the staff's friends and family had the opportunity to congregate amongst each other. This year's conference was a great success and we as Smurtti Leaders look forward to way more!
